AT THE RAILROAD CAMPS.

Superintendent Nils Engstrom Shoots Henry Westbrook in Self-Defense. Other Items.

A very unfortunate shooting affair occurred at Strang's Camp at Marlinton last Saturday, about which very distorted reports have been circulated.

To begin at the beginning, Henry Westbrook, an old railroad hand, came to the camp September 4th last and was hired by the Superintendent, Nils Engstrom. When Mr Strang came a few days afterward he recognized Westbrook as a man who had worked for his father on the construction of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Leavenworth Railroad. He said to his superintendent: "Where did you get that man?" The answer was that he had come along and had been hired. Mr Strang then remarked: "You are mighty apt to have trouble with him before you are done with him."

As it turned out Westbrook proved a capable man when not under the influence of intoxicants. He is 51 years old and his home is in Cumberland, Md. He was given the job of foreman and was working a gang of men.

Last Saturday the works were visited by several men who had bottles of liquor and Westbrook was treated to a drink or two. About 10 a. m. Isaac Woody, the colored man who assaulted Dennis Murphy recently, enraged him and he picked up a club and hit over the head. Nils Engstrom, the walking boss or superintendent, saw him and remonstrated with him, saying that there was no way to treat a man. That if such a thing as that was permitted they would not be able to get hands to work for them. Westbrook gave him some talk back, and under the discipline maintained on public works there was nothing to do but to discharge him. Westbrook came to the office and found there was $4.40 due him. He refused to take it but came back in an hour or so and took it. He was muttering threats against the walking boss at that time. About 2 o'clock Westbrook appeared on horseback and riding up to the walking boss commenced to abuse and to curse and threaten him. Engstrom turned away and left him.

The works are near the mouth of Knapps Creek, and Westbrook rode on down the river and in about an hour he reappeared in camp. He was under the influence of liquor and had a large flask in his pocket. He rode up to the office cursing the walking boss and using threats and inquiring where he could be found.

Mr Van Stan tried to turn the conversation by asking him where he got the horse he was riding. Westbrook seemed to be possessed with the idea of killing the walking boss against whom his drunken fury seemed centered. He rode up to Engstrom and jumping off his horse drew a knife and made at him, cursing and threatening him in an indescribably furious manner. Engstrom ran around the horse a time or two closely pursued by Westbrook with an open knife.

The stable boss, John R. Rodgers, was mending harness in a tent near by. He had a 38 cal. revolver stuck in his vest and Engstrom grabbed it as he ran and turning quickly shot in the ground in front of Westbrook, who came on faster than ever. He then fired twice, one of the shots taking effect in his stomach and coming out at his back.

Westbrook was wheeled by the force of the shot and sank in a sitting posture, shutting his knife. Engstrom shouted to a boy to run for Dr Price, the camp physician. Westbrook countermanded the order, saying he was done for and that he would get him yet. He remained implacable all that afternoon. Sunday he was in his right mind and deeply regretted the occurrence, fully exonerating Engstrom, and made the following statement under oath:

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA,
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, to-wit:

Harry Westbrook upon oath makes the following statement with reference to the difficulty with Nils Engstrom on the 16th day of September, 1899. "I do not want Engstrom held responsible for the difficulty at all. The man was necessarily compelled to do what he did to save himself. I am wholly to blame for the difficulty."

His
Harry X. Westbrook,
Mark.

Taken, sworn to, and subscribed before me this 17th day of September, 1899.

After securing the doctor Mr Engstrom surrendered himself to the authorities. Justice Grose came down from Huntersville and held a preliminary examination, hearing the evidence of the witnesses to the occurrence, Messrs R. J. Van Stan, John R. Rodgers, Dan Foley, and N. J. Coffman. Engstrom was discharged. His counsel was Senator McNeil.

Engstrom was very much distressed by the occurrence. He is a man 42 years of age and lives in Chicago. He has impressed all who have met him as being a fair, square man, and one who would not do a rash or hasty thing in his responsible position as superintendent of a large camp. He has never been involved in any difficulty in his life before which took him into the courts.

Sunday the wounded man was removed to a room over the drug-store, Mr Engstrom employing two nurses and doing everything in his power to make him comfortable. Westbrook has repeatedly expressed his desire that no blame should be attached to Engstrom. He has a wealthy brother in Cumberland who wired that he be sent there regardless of expense, but it was considered unsafe to move him.

The wound was thought at first to be fatal, but developments have shown that the bullet evidently glanced around under the muscles of the stomach avoiding the vital parts and the patient will get well. Drs Price and Cunningham attended him.

ITEMS.

The stone contractor is here and the work on the piers of the Knapp's Creek bridge will be pushed.

Strang's tower camp at Buckeye expected to begin work Wednesday with 65 men. The work is mostly stone work, taking the roadbed out of cliffs.

John L. Pitts camp at Colonel Levi Gay's opened with full force this week. This camp is in charge of Mr Hankins, a civil engineer who had charge of the corps at work on the permanent location last summer.

From the Levels a great deal of blasting can be heard. Dynamite is used in excavating stone and black powder for earth work. The difference in the sound can be noted. The dirt blasts are put down in a series of holes about ten feet apart.

Work on the tunnel at Paul Sharp's has been commenced.

The fill at Marlinton has been partially completed from the creek to the turnpike. The old channel of the creek on the east side of the Island has been crossed.

The temporary court-house will be moved off the right of way Thursday.

Presbyterial Notes.

Greenbrier Presbytery met at Loury's Mill Wednesday night, September 13, and was opened by Rev E. E. Patterson, of Summersville, Nicholas County. The text was Matthew xi. 7: "A reed shaken by the wind." The sermon was an able illustration of the fact that in God's plans appearances are very different from the powers and results that may be accomplished. He chooses the weak things to confound the mighty. With prayer as the fulcrum a reed shaken by the wind becomes a lever by which the world is overturned.

Rev J. M. Sloane, of Alderson, was chosen Moderator, and Ruling Elders F. H. Wheelwright, of Union church, and J. W. McDowell, of Salem church, clerks.

Mr Reed Lacy, son of Dr M. L. Lacy, was received under the care of Presbytery as a candidate for the ministry, and he will begin his preparatory studies at once.

Permission was granted the Frankford and Falling Spring churches to prosecute their call for the pastoral services of the Rev F. B. Hartman, pastor of Broadway and Woodland churches, Rockingham County, Virginia, and member of the Lexington Presbytery.

Green Sulphur church asked leave to secede the ministerial services of Rev F. P. Sydenstricker, as stated supply until next meeting of Presbytery.

Rev J. W. Holt preached the Presbyterian sermon on the subject assigned: "The distinctive doctrines of Presbyterianism." While the subject was ably and scripturally treated it was not offensively sectarian.

Rev Dr Sydenstricker, principal, and Rev N. A. Parker, alternate, Ruling Elders J. W. McDowell, principal, and Dr J. P. Moomau, alternate, were nominated commissioners to the General Assembly, at Atlanta next May.

The attendance of the people was good from the beginning and their hospitality was unstinted.

Rev R. M. Caldwell, pastor of Liberty and Baxter churches, tendered his resignation of the pastoral relation and it was dissolved by mutual consent, to terminate November 1. This is much regretted as Mr Caldwell was greatly esteemed by the Presbytery and was rapidly rising in his profession. He was advised to seek a milder climate by his physicians, and it was hoped the change may be beneficial.

Ronceverte was chosen as the next place of meeting, in April 1900.

The valley of Anthony's Creek from the head to White Sulphur, about forty miles, is densely populated, and the number of young families growing up is a phenomenal feature. The indications of energy and thrift forecast a near and prosperous future, for that improvable people.

Presbytery has not been held at Loury's Mill since 1856, forty-three years ago.

MURDER.

Mrs Jacob Simmons Shot and Instantly Killed In the Presence of Her Family by Jerome Kellison.

Last Monday night Jerome Kellison and Charles Apperson went to the house of Liz Cloonan on a branch of Swago Creek to see her two nieces Liza and Es Campbell. Learning that they were at the home of Mrs Anne Simmons working at blading cane, they went on there accompanied by a small boy named Jason Cloonan. Dennis was sent to the house where he told his sisters that one of the little girls was sick and they were wanted at home. This has since proved to be a ruse to get the girls to leave and come home. This was about ten o'clock at night.

While they were talking with the boy Kellison and Apperson came up and wanted to talk to the Campbell girls. Mrs Simmons appeared and told them that they could not see the girls at her house. She finally said that they could talk to them in the yard if they wanted to. The girl Liza went out and talked to Apperson but Es would not talk to Kellison. Kellison was very much enraged and commenced to curse and abuse Mrs Simmons. W. V. VanScott was in bed, got up and came out and Kellison went away.

VanScott went back to bed and Kellison came back and was more abusive than ever, swearing and using obscene language. Mrs Simmons stepped down from the porch ordering him away, saying she would permit no such language to be used at her house. He shouted: "—you don't come out here!" She was about two steps from the house when Kellison, who had come in at the front gate, raised his pistol and fired.

The bullet took effect in her right breast and she fell and died in a few minutes. She never uttered a word after she was shot.

Mrs Simmons kept a hotel, it being the principal stopping place for those traveling back and forth from McClintic's camps. Besides the family W. V. VanScott, Frank Thomson, (from Greenbrier), Lanty Cole, Jake Loury, and Tom Clevering were there. They were all in bed.

When the shooting was done there were present Lucy Simmons, Liza Campbell, Es Campbell, and Charles Apperson. The time was about 10 o'clock at night, but a nearly full moon made the scene as light as day to all practical purposes.

After he had fired the shot Kellison ran away, disappearing in some woods below the house. The body was carried into the house and laid on a bed. In a short time Kellison came back to the fence and called Apperson out to him and the two went away together.

Mrs Simmons was 45 years of age and widow of the late Jacob Simmons. She was the mother of nine children. Her maiden name was Beverage, being a daughter of the late Peter Beverage. She was much respected and leaves a large circle to mourn her horrible death.

It is impossible to think of one extenuating circumstance connected with the shooting of this inoffensive woman.

THE INQUEST.

Tuesday afternoon Justice Curry came up from the Levels with Sheriff Hill and met the prosecuting attorney and an inquest was held. The jury rendered a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to her death by a shot fired from a pistol by Jerome Kellison. The jurors were: J. W. Yeager, C. A. Yeager, I. R. Beard, B. L. Galford, J. F. Rock, and E. D. McNeill.

Dr Cunningham, the medical man in attendance, described the wound as follows: "The bullet entered the right breast about an inch and a quarter to the left of the right nipple on a line with the two nipples; the ball entered the gland until it struck the rib and following the fat as far as the breast-bone the ball then entering the cavity of the thorax, passed through the left lung and between the fifth and sixth ribs and lodged against the skin. I cut the ball out."

Warrants were issued for both Kellison and Apperson, and a reward is offered for their arrest as follows: For Kellison $200; for Apperson $100. At the request of the authorities we publish the following descriptions:

Kellison is from 19 to 20 years of age, medium height, dark complexion and has a rather slim face. On Sunday he was dressed in a dark suit of clothes, a white shirt, celluloid collar and small tie. He has lived lately in Randolph Co. He was raised on Droop.

Apperson: 24 years of age, has lived at Marlinton all his life, tall and angular, with prominent cheek bones, very prominent upper teeth, when last seen wore a light mustache, is of rather light complexion.

Notice.

The Middle Fork Driving Company will move into its new camp next week with accommodations for 75 men. We want 20 more good men at once.

SPECIAL MEETING.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY.
Richmond, Va., Sept. 7th, 1899.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the Stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company is called and will be held at the office of the Company, in the Pace Building, in the City of Richmond, State of Virginia, at 12 o'clock noon, on Tuesday, October 24th, 1899, to consider and act upon such measures as may be presented, designed to aid the Greenbrier Railway Company in the construction of its railroad, including a contemplated issue by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company of its bonds for not more than the principal sum of $3,000,000, to bear interest at 4 per cent per annum, the principal to be payable on December 1st, 1901, and both principal and interest to be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness, and without deduction from either principal or interest for any taxes, assessments, or stamp duties which the Railway Company may be required to pay or to retain therefrom by any present or future law (such bonds to be secured by a mortgage on the franchises and railway of the said Greenbrier Railway Company), and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

The stock transfer books of the Company will be closed at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., 23 Wall Street, New York, on Tuesday, September 26th, 1899, at 3 p. m., and will be re-opened on Wednesday, October 25th, 1899, at 10 a. m.

DUNMORE.

And then it rained.
W. H. Cackley and wife of Ronceverte are up on a visit.

Drs H. H. Jones and A. C. Jones, Mr Hal, and Misses Grace, Bess, and Alva Jones are out on a visit.

Howard Armstrong is in town.

Messrs Walker and Lacy are boarding in town. Mr Walker is general superintendent of the Ferguson Construction Company.

Miss Clara Bell Siple is home from Baltimore.

McElwee and Sheets are home from Baltimore.

We do not hear Aaron Jordan's horn blow any more. He is off the mail route.

Quite a large crowd attended the singing at Stony Bottom last Sunday. Remember the singing at Liberty church Sunday, October 1st.

Jack Coyner was in town last week. We understand that he is going to move his mill from Waynesboro, Va., to Clover Creek, and also put up a store at that place. Jack is a hustler and we wish him success.

Mrs M. M. Carpenter is on the sick list.

Grandpa and Ed McLaughlin were in town last week.

H. M. Moore made a trip to Covington last week.

Nine bicycle riders were in town Sunday evening.

A number of wagons are out to Huttonsville this week.

Swecker has on hand a nice line of samples of slate shingles and roofing.

There has been 9 high dry road surveyed around the Snake Den, away from river and railroad. This location will make a fine road. We understand some people want the road put back on the old location, where there is no road and never will be and makes more fords. This should never be done, and we think never will be by our Court.

Ledford Bartlett is out from Webster and will do some painting.

Mr William Geiger is on the sick list.

That Monster animal seen by Miss Harper in Cheat mountain has been seen since and has an eye in the middle of its forehead.

DIED.

MISS REBECCA GABERT.

Died at her home on Brown's Mountain, near Huntersville, Sunday afternoon, September 10. Miss Rebecca Gabbert, second daughter of Mr and Mrs Isaac Gabbert, aged about 20 years. She was a worthy young person and for several months has been a great sufferer from a serious complication of ailments. She was a dutiful, self-sacrificing daughter, intellectually pious and had been a professing christian for several years.

Sister thou was mild and lovely,
Gentle as the summer breeze,
Pleasant as the air of evening
When it floats among the trees.

HENRY RIDER.

Died, after a long and distressing illness, near Frost, on Thursday, September 7, Mr Henry Rider, in his 84th year. He was an excellent citizen and was much esteemed for many noble traits of personal character. For more than fifty years of his life he was a teacher and leader of vocal music and as such was well known and popular in Highland, Bath and Pendleton Counties. For about twenty years he has been a citizen of Pocahontas, and for nearly seventy years he has been a professing christian in the pale of the Methodist Church.

His remains were taken to his old home in Highland and buried in the Rehobath cemetery near his wife, nee Miss Moreland, and among his kindred of several generations. "Peace to his ashes and honor to his memory." W. T. P.

MRS JACOB S. MOORE.

Mrs Jacob S. Moore, aged 54 years, died at her home on Elk last Monday after a distressing illness of several months duration. She fell a victim to an incurable disease and for months she has waited the end with a calm resignation that was beautiful to witness. She was a model wife and mother, and her home was known far and wide for its comfort and hospitality. The funeral services were conducted last Tuesday by Rev G. P. Moore. Among her children are Mrs Thomas Malcomb, Mrs Ellis Moore, and Mrs George Tyler.

Three white pine trees are growing near Wallace McLaughlin's residence on Brown's Creek in a row as straight as a line could have placed them and at equal spaces between, or so nearly that the difference is not appreciable by the eye. The trees at the end of the row are about eighteen inches in diameter and the middle one about fifteen inches. They are of spontaneous growth and were left standing when the thicket was cleared away for buildings. They started to grow during the war and were mere saplings when the clearing was done, soon after the war. They give us an idea of what may be expected of the young pines starting up on lands recently denuded of their trees.

NOTICE.

To John T. McGraw, J. W. Stevenson, Special Receiver of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, W. A. Porter, W. A. Porter, executor etc., Levi Gay, Administrator of William Sken; and Levi Gay:

You will take notice that on the 6th day of October, 1899, an application will be made to the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, at a term thereof to be held on that day at the court house of said county, for the appointment of Commissioners to ascertain the just compensation to the persons entitled thereto for certain pieces, parcels or sections of land hereinafter mentioned and described in which John T. McGraw is interested as the owner thereof in fee and the other persons herein named are interested as holders of liens on said lands or some part thereof, and for such orders and proceedings to be then and there entered and had as may be necessary to condemn said land for the public use hereinafter mentioned, said parcels or sections of land so proposed to be condemned, maps of which are filed with the petition on application in this proceeding, are described as follows, to-wit:

Tract No. 1: All that parcel or strip of land lying and included within 50 feet on both sides of the centre line as located of the Greenbrier Railway: Beginning at a point on the boundary line between the lands of John T. McGraw and J. M.
